

WOMEN LEADING IN TIMES OF CRISIS

A Special Virtual Women's Leadership Course

April 13 to May 4, 2021

✓ 4 Topics, 7 Virtual Sessions

- Leadership styles to navigate crisis successfully
- Leading the crisis rather than managing the response
- Leading remote teams effectively
- Mindset for leading in a crisis

Navigate Uncertainty | Thrive Unconditionally

Participants will get a deeper understanding of:

- Effective leadership styles and behaviors best suited for crises.
- How to strengthen team cohesion in a virtual workspace.
- How to reframe a growth mindset to lead the crisis.
- How to build their resilience.

Who should attend?

Women currently in leadership roles, including directors, deputy directors, project managers, heads of departments. This course may be of particular interest to alumni of AWARD Women's Leadership and Management Course (WLMC)

Course Delivery and Participation

AWARD Training has convened a team of internationally experienced trainers, including AWARD Trainers and our long-term partner, Training Resources Group, Inc. (TRG), to design and deliver this highly interactive course.

AWARD Training has extensive experience in designing and delivering bespoke learning experiences globally. More than 8,000 participants from over 35 countries have benefited from AWARD Training.

Course fee is USD 2000 per person

Three weekly sessions
15:00hrs – 17:00hrs EAT

Individual coaching sessions on request

“ It was truly encouraging to know that, as a professional woman, I am not alone in navigating the challenges caused by COVID-19. I needed the openness and interactions that the course offered. ”

What past participants had to say

“ Learning how I can change my mindset from a fixed one to a growth one and how to adapt my leadership style to the circumstances was a game changer! Thank you AWARD & facilitators! ”

To register, send an email to awardtraining@cgiar.org